What You Might Save.

A lot can be saved by buying a ton of coal. It costs no more than common coal, giving ten per cent more heat and infinitely more dependable. Compare the actual value received with the value you get from a ton of common coal and you will see at once who the most particular as well as the most economical people demand ideal coal and will accept no other.

WHIST CONGRESS

Annual Meeting of American Whist League Will Be Held in Chicago Next Month.

Quite an important event will be the fifteenth annual congress of the American Whist League, to be held at the Auditorium hotel, Chicago, the week commencing July 30.

The growth of the league, despite the inroads which have been made upon the number of whist players, and the other aspects of the game, as indoor games, has been remarkable.

In April, 1931, a small colony of enthusiasts met at Milwaukee to effect an organization of whist players throughout the country. The problem was difficult but was solved in splendid style, and credit for this achievement is due in a very large measure to the late Judge Elliott, of Milwaukee, the "Father of the League," and to Theodore Schwartz, of Chicago.

Among other things, the American Whist League has codified the laws of whist, and improved upon them from year to year, until the present code is probably as nearly perfect as anything of the kind that ever existed.

The congress this summer promises to be a memorable one. Mr. J. C. Parker, who has for many years been regarded among whist players as the best tournament man in the country, stated recently that Chicago now has a force of workers which has never been equaled by Chicago or any other city. Foremost among this band are Edward F. Martin, chairman of the tournament committee, and L. M. Colbeck, chairman of the bureau of information and supplies. For many years Chicago has led all American cities in the number of whist players and whist clubs in her record for entertaining congresses the city has not been pre-eminently, and this position Mr. Martin and his associates will try earnestly to secure this year.

Last February the Chicago Whist association gave a four days whist "carnival," which was the largest affair ever given by a local association, and which gave an impetus to whist affairs in the west which is proving of incalculable value to the managers of the congress.

The league is fortunate in having as president Judge G. L. Bun, of St. Paul. A great player, and for years personally acquainted with most of the league members, he has been a splendid executive.

G. Bernard Baker, of New York, is vice president, and will undoubtedly be shown at the coming congress to guide the affairs of the league for the year to follow. While men of such caliber can be found as leaders, there will never be any serious menace to the continuance of the prosperity of the American Whist league, or to the game of whist in America.

HOME MARKETS

Prices generally have ruled somewhat weak and lower the last week. Business generally is fair. Of the Chicago live stock market, Oliver S. Green, with McGahan Commission company, Union stock yards, Chicago, for Monday, June 19, reports:

Receipts: Cattle, 25,000; hogs, 44,000; sheep, 20,000.

The market for cattle comprised a liberal supply of well fattened stock and more than dealers would buy unless at a heavy decline. General market was 10 to 15¢ lower and some 3¢ lower than last week from Wednesday on. Extreme top, $6.00. We sold cattle for $5.35 and $5.75, but well fattened cattle, 1200 to 1500 pounds, sold for $5.25 to $5.50. Good cattle, 1250 to 1500 pounds, were in better request than heavy ones unless a few extra prime, butcher stuff, cull, stockers and feeders slow to lower.

Hogs, 24,000 lower, closed firm; top, $5.45.

Sleep and lamb firm.

Kansas City, June 19.

Cattle prices kept their downward course last week, being 10 to 15¢ on all killing grades, except cheap guaranteeing cattle, which gained 10 to 15¢. This, however, was only putting the quotations on an equal basis with the live ones, as they had been unjustly hammered the previous week. The situation is not unusual at this season, when range cattle begin to move in large numbers. Receipts are running above 20,000 a week and will soon reach 40,000, going up to 60,000 a week in August, and this increase in receipts is always accompanied by a settling of prices except for the choicest cattle, which usually become scarcer and higher up to the full month.

Interest in stock cattle increased last week, but dealers lost 10 to 15¢, along with the decline in medium best steers. Good calves also showed more life and all the lighter weight, country grades of cattle gained 10 to 15¢. Receipts of this class are small, however, less than 200 cars going to the country for the whole week. The supply will, of course, increase from week to week as the season advances. Range steers, a good section of the current last week, and the fine growing weather that has prevailed will tend to make a strong inquiry for light grade stock cattle. Stockers selling 25¢ lower than this time last year, at $5.25 to $5.50, the latter the top price last week. Feeders 25¢ to 50¢ under a year ago, at $3.75 to $4.50.

Home sales.

CATTLE. Knickerbocker bought of T. B. & J. Orser 18¢, at $4.00, at $3.25; of John Cleary 17¢, at $3.50, at $3.25; of Rook & McAllister bought a load of butcher stuff and got $3.25 in St. Louis and for a load of their own feeding $5.25.

J. W. Corrington shipped three loads of his own feeding.

HOGS. William Paschall bought of Richard Adams 7¢, S. Baptist 10¢, Edward Williamson 26¢, Albert Jewsbury 27¢, others small lots at $1.50 mostly.

Rook & McAllister bought and shipped two loads.

Cup & Cade bought of different persons three loads.
A. D. Gibson bought of Mrs. E. Evans Rawlings 43¢, at $1.25, at $1.25.

A SUGGESTION

Buy a Depot Site Back East and Ship It In.

As the price of real estate is held so high in Kansas City, a young gentleman in the employ of the Aiton makes the following suggestion:

A youth left Massachusetts for the west and sought the town he thought would be the best.

In which to buy some fortune with success.

And back beneath her beaming loveliness.

He stopped in Kansas City and he said:

"Here's where I'll camp to win my daily bread."

He showed a marked degree of wisdom for this happened twenty years ago or more.

That's not so long ago, but even then, the Union depot was an ancient den.

The youth was thrifty, bright and full of vim.

And fortune cast her welcome smile to ward him.

He thought of little else than real estate and from a modest start grew pushing great.

One day an envoy of the depot came.

Brought an interview with this good man.

Who now owns land in every part of town.

And is a knower of no small renown.

They talked of values and of depot sites of south states and of people's rights.

The owner showed a multitude of plans.

And slyly chuckled the envoy in the state.

"This ground," said he, "is worth—(He settles prices).

His caller promptly fainting, after tea.

Had been supplied and consciousness restored.

The envoy said he very much deplored the fact.

That only thirty millions would be raised.

To build this plant, said he "I am amazed."

At the prevailing prices of the land.

Which everywhere, Boston lots command.

No higher figures than these lots you own.

And he may further add, "I must be shown."

"Ill grant," said Mr. Owner, "that is straight."

But think what it will cost to pay the freight."

GIFT TO THE COLLEGE.

A short time since the Journal printed a quotation from William J. Bryan's Commencement, stating that Mr. Bryan meant to do for the college, and giving gifts for the purpose of endowing scholarships. Not long afterward he received a very friendly letter from William B. Rogers, of San Jose, Calif., enclosing a note for $500, stating that it was all the sender felt able to give and expressing his appreciation of the institution and his admiration for Mr. Bryan. He was evidently originally from Wisconsin, as he asked that the proceeds of his gift be preferably applied to the tuition of a Wisconsin boy. Now if several dozen or even a hundred men would do likewise, how happy it would make a lot of people who are deeply interested in the welfare of the dear old college.

Much wheat is now being cut and several farmers report harvesting completed. A good wheat crop means much even in this vicinity, though that grain is not so generally raised hereabouts as in some other parts of the country. As has often been said, if wheat were only more certain it is a pleasant crop to raise and a good medium for changing land, but too frequently it brings a poor return for labor and capital employed in its production.

Services for Sunday, June 25:

Sunday school, 10 a. m. Epworth League, 7 p. m. Preaching, 8 p. m.

Rev. Robert Stephens, presiding elder, will deliver a lecture at the church Thursday, June 22. Subject, "Life and How to Live it." All are cordially invited.

ILLEGAL FISHING PUNISHED.

It appears as if Governor Decon meant to enforce the law against poaching in creeks. A short time since, Cass Lindsey was arrested before Squire Dyer and fined $25 and costs for poaching in the Manville creek, the whole sum amounting to $27.75. If fish are looked after and properly protected they will multiply and become a source of large food supply. This was well demonstrated by the number taken from the lake at Nichols park yesterday.

LEWIS AND CLARK EXPOSITION.

Portland, Oregon, will be open continuously from June 1, 1905, to Oct. 15, 1905, one hundred and thirty-seven days. The short line to Portland is via the Union Pacific. This route gives you 200 miles along the beautiful Columbia river, a trip to Portland and the northwest without change and a chance to visit Yellowstone Park. Returning from Portland via California, inquire of J. H. Lathrop, G. A., 203 Olive street, St. Louis, Mo.

CHANGE OF FIRM.

SONG RECITAL

AUDIENCE DELIGHTED WITH BRILLIANT WORK OF SOLOIST

Vocal Interpretation of Dilemma Program by Mrs. Helen Brown Read Showed Her to Have Talent of High Order

Shoes soled while you wait at Hopper's.

The large audience that gathered in the Congregational church Tuesday evening to hear the song recital given by Mrs. Helen Brown Read was a flattering compliment to her popularity and was a just tribute to a musician who possesses talent of a high order. It was an expectant audience, as the recital was the first appearance of Mrs. Read since her return from three years' study in Europe, and it was evidenced in the first number sung that a voice of fine quality and great power was to be heard. The recital proved a triumph and the enthusiasm and charming vivacity with which the numbers were interpreted delighted the auditors. Hearty and sincere applause was given with a spontaneity that betokened keen appreciation of the splendid work of the gifted soloist.

Mrs. Read has a mezzo-soprano voice of great range and power. Her tone is pure, her enunciation faultless and she sings with ease and grace. Her technical accomplishment is superb and her singing possesses that indelible charm and magnetism that satisfies alike the musician and the music lover. In addition to her other qualities her singing is delightful in its style and finish and gratifies one's sense of the artistic. The selections were all sung with fine feeling and musical intelligence and her voice of great compass and power was used in a manner that comes only after thorough training and conscientious study.

The program showed excellent musical taste and the numbers were given brilliant execution. There were three groups with an intermission of five minutes between each group. While the individual selections merited the sincere applause they received, the vigorous plaudits that greeted Mrs. Read as she left the platform after each group were indicative of the demand of the audience for an encore and the singer graciously responded.

Her first number was a composition by Hugo Wolf, which created quite a furore in Germany when it first came out, and which is still very popular in the fatherland. The subduing notes of the first few scores and then the demand for grand and noble tones and qualities were singularly well met and the selection was received with hearty favor.

The Saint-Saens number, from Samson and Delilah, with organ accompaniment, exhibited the versatility of the singer and she gave an effective interpretation to this classic.

Three popular numbers by Schubert, Schumann and Grieg were sung with fine musical skill and after a knowledge of the encore which greeted their singing, Mrs. Read responded with "La Serenata" (Loser).

The first number of the second group was "The Tryst," a composition by a Finnish author, and has been sung but recently in London. The English translation is poor, but the number has a peculiar charm and as sung by Mrs. Read was one of the most pleasing of the program.

The beautiful melody of "Die Blau-Weine Blume" was given expression by Mrs. Read in a manner that left little to be desired and was followed by the "Die Lorelei" (Loser), organ accompaniment. This selection calls for strong dramatic ability and for an adequate interpretation room and a voice of wide range and power. By her rendition Mrs. Read showed that she is an artist, still to fully able to meet those exacting requirements and her singing had the accuracy of tone and freedom in execution that commanded an enthusiastic outburst of applause.

The delightful composition by Mrs. Beach, words by Robert Browning, "The Years at the Spring," concluded the second group. Mrs. Read gave a very clever encore entitled "The Cuckoo Song" (Loser).

The third group opened with an old English song, "The Cuckoo Song," admirably sung. The Gladwick number followed and then came the MacDowell number, a comparatively new composition, with words by Robert Burns.

The Korhay numbers closed a program which for musical excellence has seldom been equaled in our classic city and were among the most enjoyable selections of the evening.

After repeated calls, Mrs. Read came upon the platform again and sang "The Kissed Me" (Korhay), a composition of a peculiarly happy character.

The hearty welcome accorded Mrs. Read upon her return from Europe showed that she is an artist, still to fully able to meet those exacting requirements and her singing had the accuracy of tone and freedom in execution that commanded an enthusiastic outburst of applause.
